

Abstract

Channels are allocated in a communications system.
In the system, code division multiple access (CDMA) codes 5 are used to define the channels between a transmitter and a receiver. A new CDMA code for a channel is derived from other CDMA codes for other channels. The new CDMA code is derived based a tree structure that contains symbols that define the new CDMA code.

10

103630-1384460